New Company – USA TPA, Inc. – Specializes in Managing Workers’ Compensation Programs for Self-Insured Employers.

Cicero, NY: A new company – USA TPA, Inc. – has been formed to help self-insured employers administer and manage their workers’ compensation programs. The company will provide expert claims administration and case management services that can help self-insured businesses, municipalities and school districts save thousands on their workers’ compensation costs.

USA TPA, Inc. offers a number of specialized administrative and management services to support a clients’ workers’ compensation program, including: claims investigation; claims administration and reporting; nurse case management; disability management; safety and loss control programs; and return-to-work programs.

A key technological advantage of USA TPA's administrative services model is its proprietary Web-based case management software called Xclaim Case Manager. Xclaim serves as the central database for all case and claims information. Clients can confidentially view any and all information in the claims lifecycle plus access extensive reporting capability available through Xclaim.

USA TPA also offers extensive nurse case management expertise. This expertise can help clients' control the indemnity and medical expenses associated with workers' compensation claims. An in-house team of registered nurses monitor the progress of claimants, helping to access the medical support they need to facilitate a prompt return to work.

“Companies, municipalities, and school districts self-insure to save on the rising costs of insurance. Unfortunately, it costs them thousands of dollars to manage these self-insurance programs, especially as it relates to the administration and management of workers' compensation claims,” said Tony D'Amato, Vice President USA TPA, Inc.

“That’s where USA TPA comes in,” D’Amato continued. “We have the expertise and the systems already in place to manage every aspect of their workers’ compensation program, from claims administration to case management. Outsourcing the administration of their workers’ compensation program to USA TPA can provide significant savings in terms of money, time, and personnel. Simply put, we’ve made workers’ comp administration our core competency, so that our clients’ can concentrate on theirs.”

USA TPA is based in Cicero, NY and is associated with New York Compensation Managers, Inc. a recognized leader in workers’ compensation self-insured trusts across New York State, based in Syracuse, New York.
